Jersey Boxing Commission Holds Title Fight Was No Contest; Wilson Testifies

New Jersey's high court of boxing declared yesterday that amany Wilson, middleweight champion of the world, was guilty of not doing his best in his bout with Bryan Downey at Boyle's Thirty Acres on Labor Day and ordered that his end of the purse, and ordered that his end of the purse, amounting to $35,000, be placed in a bank pending the handing down of the decision of the Boxing Commission as to the punishment to be inflicted. This decision is expected to be announced next Thursday.

Wilson was represented by a lawyer at yesterday's hearing and it is certain that the matter will be taken into the state courts. The champion was given an opportunity to testify and he declarded that he fought Downey to the best of his ability. He was defended by Charles Eagan, a former state Senator, who informed the boxing commissioners that he was not familiar with the offense with which Wilson was charged. Eagan was quickly acquainted with these facts by Charles McNair, chairman of the commission, who is conducting the prosecution. McNair charged that Wilson was guilty of not giving a boxing exhibition, as called for in the contract he had signed with Rickard.
